Message from the President....

It's Annual Conference Time!

I hope that all of you will be able to join us for our third annual conference on November 19th at the Bridgeport Conference Center. The theme this year is Teach, Learn, and Lead in the Mountain State. Nationally known author and speaker, Dr. Robyn Jackson will be the keynote, and all conference attendees will receive a copy of her book "Never Work Harder Than Your Students". The format is the same as last year's, with breakout sessions after lunch. Vendors will have displays in the lobby, and I encourage you to visit them.

A great part of what WVASCD does involves professional development for educational leaders and teachers, and this conference fits in with that mission. Our membership includes a variety of educational professionals from both K-12 and higher education. When we meet in this venue, educators have the opportunity to meet others like themselves, and share stories of their experiences. It's exciting and gratifying to discover that although many of us vary in our job descriptions and duties, we still share common issues and challenges in teaching and leadership. I hope you will take the opportunity to meet and talk with as many other members as you can, and continue to strengthen our common bonds and interests.

A conference registration form can be found at the WVASCD website: www.wvascd.org.

I look forward to greeting each of you at the conference on November 19th.

Sincerely,

Mary Harris-John, Ed.D.
